

Alexandra Deyneka

Consultant

Alexandra Deyneka brings a background strongly dedicated to community and fine art programs, as well as research and development. Her work has included creating art programs in varying disciplines, subject based research and writing, and professional development, as well as other diverse projects.

She particularly enjoys hands-on projects from working with children to stage design to art restoration.

Alex's graduate and undergraduate degrees include art history, art conservation/restoration, and international studies. In addition to working with youth programs and teacher training, she has done extensive research and writing, program creation, and translation and interpretation.

Kaplan & Associates cultural resources researching/developing/presenting culture, nature & the arts

www.kaplanandassociates.org